THE UNITED STATES, through the National Park Service, has been studying the possibility of establishing a national monument on the site of the old Fort Mifflin, which was built in 1777 and destroyed in 1778. The site is located in the city of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. The monument would be dedicated to the memory of the brave soldiers who fought the Battle of the Clouds on September 26, 1777. The monument would be a fitting tribute to the courage and sacrifice of the Continental Army during the American Revolution.

Introduction

The East European Accessions List is a monthly record of monographic publications issued after 1944 and periodical publications issued after 1950 that are currently received by the Library of Congress and, as indicated, by other American libraries. Imprints of the following countries as well as publications issued elsewhere in the languages of these countries are included:

Albania	Latvia
Bulgaria	Lithuania
Czechoslovakia	Poland
Estonia	Rumania
Hungary	Yugoslavia

The List includes three parts:

The first part lists monographic and periodical publications for each country, grouped under general subjects with monographs and periodicals separately alphabetized under each subject. Monographs in series and annual publications are treated as monographs and are listed in the list of monographs. Entries appear under the following general subjects based on the Library of Congress Classification:

Each periodical is listed in the original language or in transliteration followed by a translation of the title or a descriptive annotation in English. Receipts are recorded by volume, number and date. Contents (in English) are provided for selected periodicals in accordance with their importance and the availability of staff.

The second part is a subject guide to both monographic and periodical publications listed in the first part. In citing periodical articles the following abbreviations are used for the months of the year:
